1. This is a qui tam action on behalf of the United States of America against Defendants Gregory Nanney, M.D., Steven Braun, M.D., Mercy Hospital Springfield and Mercy Clinic Springfield Communities (collectively “Defendants”) arising from Defendants’ knowing violation of Federal Civil False Claims Act, 31 U.S.C. §3729 et seq., as amended (“the FCA” or “the Act”). Specifically, defendants have systematically and knowingly submitted false claims to Medicare, and have willfully and knowingly conspired to submit false claims.

PARTIES

5. The Government Plaintiff in this action is the United States of America. Pursuant to the provisions of 31 U.S.C. §3730(b)(1), Plaintiff-Relator Viran Roger Holden is suing in the name of and on behalf of the United States of America.

At that facility, Defendant Mercy Clinic Springfield Communities also maintains laboratory and radiology facilities. Defendant Mercy Clinic Springfield Communities was formerly known as St. John's Clinic, Inc., with its change of name recognized by the State of Missouri on November 15, 2011. At all times relevant to the allegations herein, Defendant Mercy Clinic Springfield Communities was the employer of Defendants Nanney and Braun. Mercy Clinic Springfield Communities' address (as reported to the Missouri Secretary of State) is 1965 S. Cherokee, Springfield, Missouri, while the Chub O'Reilly Cancer Center is located at 2250 S. Cherokee St., Springfield, MO 65804.

10. Viran Roger Holden, M.D., PhD (“Plaintiff-Relator”) resides in Springfield, Missouri. Plaintiff-Relator is a medical doctor licensed in the State of Missouri and board certified in medical oncology and hematology. Plaintiff-Relator has a PhD in microbiology and immunology. Plaintiff-Relator has been employed by Mercy Clinic Springfield Communities as a medical oncologist in Springfield, Missouri since 2005. During that time period, Plaintiff-Relator has seen patients who were also patients of Defendants Nanney and Braun, many of whom were Medicare patients. At all times relevant herein until on or about May 2012, Plaintiff-Relator was also the Chair of the Mercy Clinic Springfield Communities Oncology Department and in that capacity, received information relating to patients of the Oncology Department including concerns and complaints of physicians and other healthcare providers.

FILING UNDER SEAL

11. In accordance with 31 U.S.C. § 3730(b)(2), this Complaint is filed in camera and will remain under seal and will not be served on the Defendants until the Court so orders. A copy of the Complaint and a written disclosure of substantially all material evidence and information in the possession of Plaintiff-Relator will be served on the United States pursuant to 31 U.S.C. § 3730(b)(2) and FED.R.CIV.P. 4(i). The written disclosure is incorporated herein by reference. Plaintiff-Relator's previous oral and written disclosures to the United States of March 27, 2014 and April 29, 2014 are incorporated herein by reference.

MEDICARE REIMBURSEMENT REQUIREMENTS

12. The Medicare program will reimburse physicians only for medically necessary procedures. For that reason, Medicare claim forms require the physician submitting the claim to certify that the procedures for which reimbursements are sought are medically necessary.

13. The Medicare program also requires participating physicians to maintain true and accurate records supporting the legitimacy of claims submitted for reimbursement.

DEFENDANTS' FRAUDULENT SCHEME OF PERFORMING AND BILLING FOR UNNECESSARY PROCEDURES AND TREATMENTS

14. Defendants Nanney and Braun routinely, and as a pattern and practice, knowingly presented and caused to be presented false and fraudulent Medicare claims for payment in violation of 31 U.S.C. § 3729(a)(1) by systematically performing and billing for medically unnecessary services and/or inappropriate treatment.

15. For example, Defendant Nanney, prescribed a patient six cycles of AC (Adriamycin/Cytoxan) followed by Taxotere, even though the standard of care was only four cycles and there was no medical reason to exceed four cycles. Therefore, the additional two cycles of AC followed by Taxotere were medically unnecessary.

16. Defendant Nanney also frequently ordered labs on his patients weekly, even though the standard of care normally requires labs only every three to four weeks and there was no medical reason to order weekly labs. Therefore, the additional labs were medically unnecessary. In addition, the labs that Defendant Nanney ordered were often unusual. For example, ordering tumor markers for the wrong cancers where the resulting information had no medical benefit.

17. Defendant Nanney also frequently ordered radiologic scans for his patients every three months, even though the standard of care normally requires such scans only once annually and there was no medical reason for such scans. Therefore, the additional scans were medically unnecessary.

18. Defendant Braun routinely left his clinic prior to 4:00 p.m., while nurses and technicians continued to treat his patients until 6:00 p.m. or 7:00 p.m., such that he was not “immediately available” to his patients. Therefore, whether such services were billed under Defendant Braun or as “incident to” services, the lack of Defendant Braun’s physical presence in the clinic renders such treatment inappropriate.

19. Defendant Braun often used EMR cloning with respect to medical entries on patients such that a misrepresentation occurred regarding the medical necessity required for the services rendered.

20. Defendant Braun also routinely engaged in ordering three to four radiation therapy simulations for his patients, when the standard of care only requires two radiation therapy simulations, with no medical reason for the additional radiation therapy simulations. Therefore, the additional radiation therapy simulations were medically unnecessary.

21. In one instance, Defendant Nanney prescribed Rituxan to a patient while Defendant Braun was simultaneously providing radiation therapy, even though there was no medical reason for concurrent radiation treatment. In fact, such concurrent treatment endangered the patient, such that either the Rituxan or the radiation therapy was medically unnecessary and inappropriate.

22. In another instance, where the patient suffered from borderline intellectual functioning, Defendant Nanney prescribed additional rounds of chemotherapy over and above the standard of care while Defendant Braun simultaneously treated the patient with radiation therapy, with no medical reason for either the additional rounds of chemotherapy or concurrent radiation treatment. Therefore, the additional rounds of chemotherapy and the radiation therapy were medically unnecessary.

23. On information and belief, Defendants Nanney and Braun treated patients in a manner that would maximize reimbursement from Medicare, disregarding the well-established national cancer treatment guidelines.

24. Defendant Mercy Clinic Springfield Communities and/or Defendant Mercy Hospital Springfield owns the radiologic facilities, laboratory facilities and the chemotherapy and radiation infusion center utilized by Defendants Nanney and Braun. Defendant Mercy Clinic Springfield Communities and/or Defendant Mercy Hospital Springfield would receive fees for services connected with the care of the patients of Defendants Nanney and Braun.

25. In addition, the medically unnecessary treatments by Defendants Nanney and Braun often resulted in adverse side effects for the patients, including hospital admissions for which Mercy Hospital Springfield and Mercy Clinic Springfield Communities would receive additional payments by Medicare.

26. Defendant Mercy Clinic Springfield Communities was first made aware of many of the aforementioned acts of Defendant Nanney in August 2011, when Plaintiff-Relator went to his office manager, Amy Fore.

27. In or about January 2012, following the incident set forth in Paragraph 20 above, Plaintiff-Relator attended a meeting regarding Defendant Nanney, also present were Amy Fore, Allen Allphin, M.D. (Chief of Staff of Mercy Hospital), Kevin Goodwin (Vice-President of Operations of Mercy Clinic Springfield Community), Stanley Hayes, M.D. (Director of Medical Subspecialties of Mercy Clinic Springfield Communities), Majula Raju, M.D., Lavany Tiriveedhi, M.D., Gary Hoos, M.D., and Alexander Hover, M.D. At the meeting, Plaintiff-Relator brought to the attention of all present five cases wherein he believed Dr. Nanney's treatment was inappropriate and/or needlessly endangered the patient. Following the meeting, Mercy Clinic Springfield Communities made a determination to send these cases for external review.

28. Following the external review process, Dr. Nanney was allowed to continue practicing within the Cancer & Hematology Clinic, but was subjected to a Performance Improvement Plan, wherein he was required to become board certified in 2012 and also required that his charts be reviewed and approved by senior physicians.

29. Despite these precautions, Defendant Nanney continued his pattern of over-treating patients.

30. In May 2012, Plaintiff-Relator, approached and met with the general counsel for Mercy Hospital Springfield and/or Mercy Clinic Springfield Communities, Michael Merrigan, with his concerns regarding Defendants Nanney and Braun. At this meeting, Plaintiff-Relator voiced his concerns regarding what he believed to be Medicare and Medicaid fraud. Mr. Merrigan inquired as to whether Plaintiff-Relator believed that Dr. Nanney was overtreating patients to receive additional compensation and Plaintiff-Relator responded affirmatively.

31. In or about May 2012, Defendant Nanney left his employment with Mercy Clinic Springfield Communities.

32. In or about June 2012, Plaintiff-Relator was removed from his position as Chair of Medical Oncology.

33. On information and belief, Defendants Mercy Clinic Springfield Communities and Mercy Hospital Springfield had knowledge of Defendants Nanney and Braun's improper treatment and billing practices since as early as August 2011, but at least since August 2012, and took no steps to disclose said improper billing practices to Medicare or to cure past improper payments received by Defendants Mercy Clinic Springfield Communities and Mercy Hospital Springfield from Medicare.

34. Further, on information and belief, Defendants Mercy Clinic Springfield Communities and Mercy Hospital Springfield have not notified any affected patients regarding the improper care provided by Defendants Nanney and Braun.
